

Mediation Services OVERVIEW

About Kegler Brown's Mediation Services Practice Area

As costs and disruption resulting from litigation continue to rise, companies, not-for-profit organizations, government entities, and individuals are utilizing mediation and other alternative dispute resolution techniques as a method for resolving their disagreements. These techniques provide quick and practical solutions in a private setting. At Kegler Brown, our certified and experienced mediators can assist you in reaching sensible and cost-effective resolutions to the disputes you encounter.

At Kegler Brown, we understand that mediation is an art and a skill which must be both learned and practiced. Thus, our qualified mediators have extensive training and practical experience, which can help you achieve smart solutions to your disputes. During the mediation process, our certified mediators act as neutral third parties, assisting the participants in reaching a mutual agreement. At Kegler Brown, our first order of business is knowing yours and we structure our mediation services to provide you with a trained mediator, who has deep experience in your industry or profession. We offer comprehensive mediation services to businesses of all sizes.

Kegler Brown Mediation Services provides an effective alternative to costly litigation. When you can reach a practical resolution for a serious dispute, you can return to focusing on achieving your objectives without the distraction and costs of the dispute.
