Legal ethics has always been a complex topic. It has only become more complex over time, with the rise of technological changes that increase everyday ethical risks for lawyers. From conflicts to trust accounts, privilege to technological competence, practicing law has many ethical responsibilities that require continuing education. Jason frequently presents at public and private events, panel discussions and seminars, delivering ethics CLE programming to lawyers of all kinds. His presentations cover questions of legal ethics across a variety of practices. Jason provides guidance and strategies for unique issues, such as data security and attorney-client privilege, and practical guidance about how to avoid ethical pitfalls in social media use. He understands the serious impacts these issues can have on a lawyer's career, and by structuring his presentations to be informative, entertaining, visual and tailored to the needs of his audience, he draws on his own experience as a litigator to give insightful, enjoyable and detailed talks on serious matters.

Litigation Experience

In addition to giving CLE presentations on ethics and professionalism, Jason maintains a diverse litigation practice. He focuses in the areas of intellectual property litigation, business litigation, probate litigation, and legal ethics and malpractice. He has served as primary trial attorney numerous times, litigating breach of contract cases, business ownership disputes, trademark and trade dress cases, fiduciary litigation, probate litigation, legal malpractice cases, and construction matters. He has briefed numerous cases in Ohio appellate courts and drafted briefs for several cases before the Ohio Supreme Court.

About Jason

He focuses his practice in the areas of business litigation, intellectual property disputes, probate litigation, and legal ethics and malpractice.
